The newest Sylvia Design Cabinet Model 2600 Quilt Mate Cabinet easily fits the largest of the large sewing and embroidery machines manufactured today. The sewing machine opening measures 27 3/8" x 14 3/16"

This sewing and quilting cabinet includes two Rudersburg lift mechanisms, one mounted on the left side of the machine opening and the other on the right side to support the machine platform evenly at both ends and the extra weight of these heavy machines. Vibration is greatly reduced with the sturdiness of two separate lift systems working as one.

This cabinet was designed by quilters and sewers and folks that like to embroider. There are many conveniences built into the cabinet design, especially for quilters and sew-ers who work on large projects. The Quilt-Mate 2600 can be used with the drop-leaf in the back of the cabinet folded down. Or just lift up the drop-leaf and move the two support legs into position to add over 7 square feet of extra work space. The drawer can be pulled out and the included quilt extension can be added to help support the really large projects you work on from time-to-time.

There is a cubby built-in to store your embroidery unit when not in use. The matching color inset is included so you can cover the machine opening and work with a cutting mat, etc. on the solid top. Also included is the right-hand fold-able "wing" that extends the cabinet to the right. This makes it convenient for right-handers to place their scissors, pins, etc. The QuiltMate Model 2600 cabinet comes with one large drawer, but the optional Model #460 sewing chest can be rolled right under the existing drawer for a lot of extra storage and organization.

The lift has 3 positions – all the way down, so you can close up the cabinet completely – the middle position for sewing and quilting where the arm of your sewing machine is flush with the top of the cabinet. Very ergonomic and comfortable and meant to be used with a sewing machine insert that fits around the arm of your machine – and lastly, the all the way up position for taking advantage of your sewing machine free arm and using your embroidery unit.

The cabinet comes completely assembled. All you do is attach the commercial grade locking casters. The cabinet even comes with a lifetime warranty.

Ships to you by a trucking company, secured on a pallet in one box which weighs about 250 pounds. We will phone you after you order to explain the shipping and what you can expect including the appointment with the trucking company so you are home to receive your cabinet. We have other options too, including white glove delivery. The delivery company will bring the cabinet to your sewing room, unpack and set up the cabinet, then remove the packing materials. It costs a little more, but sometimes it is worth the service. Call us for details.
